E.H.E. EurAka News 1/2019

New strategic partnership of the E.H.E. EurAka with the Eastern and Southern African Management Institute, ESAMI

The E.H.E. EurAka warmly welcomes the esteemed Colleagues and Students of ESAMI in this new and exciting partnership.

ESAMI is Africa's biggest higher education institution. Represented in 10 countries on the African continent, ESAMI truly is pan-African.

This partnership offers the various E.H.E. EurAka doctoral and postdoctoral studies, which the ESAMI organises and delivers in all 10 countries leading to PhD, DBA, Dr Sc, and other specialised doctoral degrees awarded by the E.H.E. EurAka in this outstanding partnership.

The E.H.E. EurAka has established a variety of partnerships in Africa before, because she believes that especially this continent will play a major role in future global developments. In addition, it is one time more the evidence that for education borders, countries, and continents belong to the past. The future is not only pan-African, it is global. That is a very promising perspective.

The new Professional Doctorate of the Doctor of Education (DEd)

Multiple requests for a high-profile doctoral programme in education, which the international E.H.E. EurAka Partner Institutes have made for a longer period of time did not remain unnoticed.

With the beginning of the year 2019, the new doctoral degree of the DEd has started. Enrolment is open.

Study Centre, Frankfurt, Germany

State of the Art Study Centre in Germany

What is frequently misunderstood, is that the E.H.E. EurAka is a research university first of all. Such award-winning research is of much advantage to students having access to the latest knowledge. On the other hand, that differentiates the E.H.E. EurAka from traditional brick-and-mortar universities: research facilities instead of lecture theatres is the structural priority.

However, in her cooperation with Germany's most influential association of SME, the BVMW, the E.H.E. has secured a first-tier study centre nearby Frankfurt Airport. The outstanding facilities are equally used by other German universities, which adds the additional advantage of knowledge transfer and to meet German professors and students.

The E.H.E. EurAka is very proud of this achievement, because it offers her students first-class lecture rooms, further amenities, and most importantly, it is easy to reach by any means of transport.

A very comparable and equally outstanding teaching facility is already much advanced for the E.H.E. EurAka's home country Switzerland. The same principle applies there: instead of the traditional campus, a multi-functional future-oriented knowledge centre, where research and direct knowledge transfer are daily routine.

The BSI (British Standards Institution), incorporated by Royal Charter, has become the latest constituting participant of the Accreditation-Certification-Conference for Holistic Quality Management in Education and Science. Thus, the E.H.E. EurAka's certification and accreditation are according to the official standards of Switzerland, Germany, and now the UK too.

Among the permanent growing number of new partnerships for the delivery of the E.H.E. EurAka's transnational studies, the Arab Foundation for Leadership and Skills Development deserves a particular note. The Foundation now offers the private University's studies, in particular MBA-programmes, in Egypt and Saudi Arabia. A warm welcome to the Middle East as well!
